Dear Reader,

The International Medical Informatics Association (IMIA) and the Association of Medical Directors of Information Systems (AMDIS) as well as Schattauer Verlag, Stuttgart, Germany, are proud to announce the launch of our new journal:

Applied Clinical Informatics (ACI)

www.aci-journal.org

As the Official eJournal of the International Medical Informatics Association (IMIA) and the Association of Medical Directors of Information Systems (AMDIS), the ACI will publish approximately 100 peer reviewed articles per year online. ACI aims to establish a platform for knowledge sharing between clinical medicine and health IT specialists. It further intends to bridge gaps between visionary design and successful and pragmatic deployment.

The core editorial subject matters of ACI are

- Clinical information systems (including but not limited to
  - electronic medical records and systems,
  - personal health records,
  - physician/provider order entry,
  - electronic prescribing,
  - clinical decision support,
  - nursing information systems,
  - patient scheduling and tracking tools,
  - lab information systems,
  - radiology information systems,
  - PACS,
  - GP information systems),
- administrative and management systems,
- eHealth systems,
- information technology development, deployment, and evaluation,
- socio-technical aspects of information technology and health IT training.

The target of ACI

An international and potentially very influential readership, e.g.:
- Chief Information Officers,
- Chief Executive Officers,
- Chief Financial Officers,
- Medical Informatics Researchers,
- Nurse Informaticians,
- Consultants,
- Public Health Officials,
- Vendors,
- IT Safety Healthcare providers,
- Informatics trainees as well as
- organizations such as AMDIS, HIMSS, AMIA, IMIA, AHA or the equivalent.
